Overview

Description: This project is the third annual ALIVE Lived Experience priority-setting survey. The aim of these surveys is to develop a living roadmap for mental health research, driven by the perspectives of people with lived experience of mental ill-health and their carers, families and kinship group members. Our intention is for the roadmap to underpin research within the ALIVE National Centre, and also contribute to mental health research more broadly in Australia.

The purpose of the current study is to elevate the voices of young people aged 16-25, who are underrepresented in our work to-date. The study includes an online survey, where we will ask you to suggest your own ideas for research as described in this information sheet. Other parts of the study, which you can learn about on our study page https://alivenetwork.com.au/2024-anu-alive-national-lived-experience-priorities-survey/ include crowdsourcing, photo interviews and emotion mapping.

Participants: Australian residents between the ages of 16 and 25 years, who identify as someone with personal lived experience of mental ill-health, or as a carer, family or kinship group member supporting someone who experiences mental ill-health. We are looking for around 100 young people to take part in the study.

Use of Data and Feedback: Priorities shared in the survey will be combined with those gathered through the other parts of the study to add to our growing roadmap for mental health research. Findings will be used to create a pocket map of research priorities, our annual consensus statement and implementation actions, which you can see here https://alivenetwork.com.au/our-research/mental-health-care-at-scale/. Study findings will also be published in peer-reviewed journal papers and academic presentations and a summary made available on the project page.

Project Funding: This project is supported by funding from the National Health and Medical Research Council for the ALIVE National Centre.

What's involved?

Voluntary Participation & Withdrawal: Participation in this research is voluntary. You don't have to take part, you don't have to answer all the questions and you can stop the survey at any time by just closing your browser. With your permission, responses from partially completed surveys will still be included in our study. Once you finish and submit the survey, your responses cannot be deleted as the survey is anonymous and we have no way of identifying which survey is yours.

What does taking part involve? In this project you will be asked to complete an online survey via Qualtrics. The survey asks you about your gender, age and location, and whether you identify as someone with personal experience of mental ill-health, or as a carer, family or kinship group member. We are collecting this personal information to allow us to describe the range of people who have completed the survey. You will then be asked to contribute three research priorities. If you are a carer, family or kinship group member, we ask that you do not share information in your responses such as name, diagnosis or other personal details of the person you support.

Location and Duration: You can access the survey from any web-enabled device. We estimate that completion of the survey will take around 20 minutes. If you have cookies enabled, you can return to an incomplete survey at any time within a week of starting. Clicking on the survey on the same device will return to the page where you left off. However, if you use a different device you will have to start a new survey.

Inclusion criteria: Participants must be Australian residents aged 16-25 years and identify as someone with lived experience or mental ill-health, either personally or as a carer, family or kinship group member supporting someone with mental ill-health.

Risks: There is a risk that talking about mental health may trigger unpleasant feelings or memories. A link to a list of support services is attached to this information sheet. If you feel distressed when completing the research, please contact your preferred support person or one of the services linked from our page. Experiencing stigma associated with mental ill-health is also possible. Our deidentification process described under confidentiality reduces the risk of your responses being recognised and prompting stigmatising attitudes from others.

Benefits: We do not expect that you will personally benefit from the research. However, conducting lived experience priority-setting may benefit the mental health sector broadly by ensuring that research conducted in Australia is relevant to current priority issues identified by the people most affected. Research into current issues has the potential to influence policy and practice, improving our mental health system.

Confidentiality & Privacy

Confidentiality: Your information will be kept confidential as far as the law allows. The survey does not require any identifying information. Please do not include identifying information in open responses. Any potentially identifying or personal information will be removed from responses during data analysis. Only named research staff will have access to the original data. As described under data storage, your de-identified responses will be added to our database for use in future research by researchers who may be outside the current named team.

Privacy Notice: In collecting your personal information within this research, the ANU must comply with the Privacy Act 1988. The ANU Privacy Policy is available at https://policies.anu.edu.au/ppl/document/ANUP_010007 and it contains information about how a person can:

- Access or seek correction to their personal information;
- Complain about a breach of an Australian Privacy Principle by ANU, and how ANU will handle the complaint.

Participants should be aware that the World Wide Web is an insecure public network that gives rise to a potential risk that a user's transactions are being viewed, intercepted or modified by third parties or that data which the user downloads may contain computer viruses or other defects.

Data Storage

Where: Original survey responses will be stored on ANU Qualtrics and OneDrive servers, and will be accessible only to the named research team. De-identified data will be uploaded to the ALIVE National Centre searchable lived experience priorities database https://alivenetwork.com.au/mental-health-priorities-database/ and the ANU Data Commons https://datacommons.anu.edu.au/DataCommons/

How long: Data associated with this project will be kept for a minimum of 5 years from publication, after which it will be archived for use in future projects.

What about long-term? The final combined research agenda dataset will be made available in data archives including the ALIVE National Centre website and the ANU Data Commons. Archived priorities will identify participants by gender, age, state, remoteness category and their lived experience perspective (personal or carer, family or kinship group member). Use by other researchers and organisations is encouraged. By consenting to take part, you are agreeing to this future use.
